Cannon will leave with a party who will land at Antwerp and spend several months on the Continent and in England. Traveling with Mrs. Cannon will be Mrs. J. J. Hickey, Mrs. B. H. Abrams and Miss Marie Abrams, of Atlanta, Ga.; Miss Minnie Bolton and Miss Martha Harvie.

Mrs. Henry Cannon, Misses Addie and Martha Cannon, and Miss Jane Harvie, of Danville, will sail earlier and join Mrs. Cannon's party on their arrival in Antwerp.

To Arrive To-Day. Mrs. Donald Hooker and Mrs. Stuart Eymington will arrive to-day from Baltimore and be here until Thursday. Mrs. Hooker will give a talk in the parlors of Miss Johnston's home, 110 East Franklin Street, this afternoon at 5 o'clock. She will give a talk in the parlors of Mrs. George A. Barksdale to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, her subject on both occasions being "Woman's Suffrage." On Wednesday evening at 8:15 o'clock, Mrs. Hooker will talk to members of the Social Suffrage League of Virginia and their friends.

Prominent Engagements. The announcement of the engagement of Miss Nellie McKenzie Tabb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McKenzie, of Baltimore, to Henry McCombs, of New York, is of special interest here, where Miss Tabb has frequently visited as the guest of Miss Caroline Reynolds. Miss Tabb's father has a country place in Fauquier county, Va., and was originally from Gloucester county. On both sides of her family Miss Tabb is widely related in Virginia, and has been one of the most admired girls in Baltimore society since her formal presentation to society in that place several years ago. No date has been announced for the wedding.

Another engagement of interest to Richmond society was that of Miss Mary Hickok, daughter of the late J. M. Hickok, of 521 West Franklin Street, to Hamilton Godwin Boykin, which was announced Saturday afternoon at a tea of which Miss Helen Christian was hostess. Miss Hickok made her debut in Baltimore and Richmond, and is prominently related in both Maryland and Virginia. The wedding will take place some time in November.

Guest of Mrs. Miller. Mrs. J. H. Crosby, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has been spending some time at the University of Virginia, where she attended the Easter term, is now the guest of Mrs. Turner Ashby Miller. Going Abroad. After spending a year at Monterey, Cal., Sergeant and Mrs. Thomas H. Rowland will leave for Port St. George, Philippine Islands, on board the Steamer, which sails from San Francisco this morning. Miss Eugenia Draper, a sister of Mrs. Rowland, who joined them some time ago, will accompany them abroad. Sergeant Rowland goes to his post in the United States Army. They will visit Honolulu and Japan before returning to this country. Mrs. Rowland and her sister, Miss Draper, have a wide circle of relatives and friends in Virginia.

For Miss Greener. Miss Virginia Greener, of Chilhowie, Va., is the guest of Mrs. Hemetier in Baltimore. On Wednesday Mrs. David M. Culbertson entertained at dinner at her home on North Calvert Street in Miss Greener's honor. The table was attractively arranged in pale pink roses and lilacs. Miss Greener is well known in Richmond society and is a frequent visitor to friends in this city.

Brooks Johnston have issued invitations to the wedding reception of their daughter, Miss Clara Teahunt Godwin, and Randolph Bolling Cooke, on the evening of Thursday, April 14, from 8 until 11 o'clock, at 215 Fairfax Avenue, Norfolk. The ceremony will take place at the bride's residence and will be very quiet.

Miller-O'Hara. Miss Josephine O'Hara, of this city, and John Maher, of Newport News, were married on Thursday morning, March 21, at 7 o'clock, the Rev. W. A. O'Hara, of Keyser, W. At the Woman's Club. Yesterday afternoon was devoted to art at the Woman's Club, and Mrs. Jeffrey Montague told the members in a charming and informal manner something about "A New Art Movement in an Old Art Centre." She has a very attractive personality, combined with a delightful strain of humor, and having for eight years lived and studied in the art centers of the Old World, her address was one of easy dealing with long-loved and familiar subjects.

Mrs. Montague first presented to her audience a number of the leading artists in the city of Munich—Lombach, who painted the wonderful portraits of Bismarck and his own daughter, Gabrielle, and who sought to merge his mind into the soul of his sister, thus portraying the character, mental power and spiritual supremacy of the great men that were his subjects; Franz von Kaulbach, Von Uhde and others—describing their villas and studios, eccentric and eccentric ways, and bringing from the artists' world delightful visions and visions of the life of genius.

Mrs. Montague then presented to her audience a number of the leading artists in the city of Munich—Lombach, who painted the wonderful portraits of Bismarck and his own daughter, Gabrielle, and who sought to merge his mind into the soul of his sister, thus portraying the character, mental power and spiritual supremacy of the great men that were his subjects; Franz von Kaulbach, Von Uhde and others—describing their villas and studios, eccentric and eccentric ways, and bringing from the artists' world delightful visions and visions of the life of genius.

Then Mrs. Montague, from the little volume of her own happy experience, took the pupils and artists of the great studios in the city to the quiet little villages anywhere one of the placid peace, where chickens and pigs were of much greater moment than the affairs of nations. When one had to wait weeks for a "gray day" and even the sons of fortune's favorites could not choose their own clothes, she told us of the life, with their kindly hearts and kindred souls.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Howard Ross and Mrs. Desmet. Mrs. D. T. Williams and Mrs. Desmet. Mrs. Desmet presided at the coffee table, and Mrs. Williams presided at the piano. The German Ladies Aid Association will hold a meeting at 2:30 o'clock, Monday afternoon, at the Virginia Hotel. Final arrangements will be made for the members to be given shortly, and all the members are asked to attend.

BANK CHARTERED BY STATE

Harnett County Man Still Paying Bet He Made on Bryan.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Raleigh, N. C., April 4.—The number of special local tax districts for the improvement of public schools in North Carolina has now passed the 1,000 mark, and official information of more than 100 other local tax elections to be held in every part of the State between now and June 1 has been received in the State Department of Education here. These campaigns are being waged vigorously, through the assignment of special speakers to go into these communities and advocate local taxation. The latest election carried by the voters was in Johnston county, where the local tax for the improvement of the county school was carried by a large majority.

The Farmers and Traders Bank, of Weaverville, is chartered, with $10,000 capital, by J. S. Coleman, J. H. Carter, D. J. Weaver, of Asheville, and others, for commercial and savings business. Another charter is for the Bank of the Confederacy, Hanson Camp, of Lee county, No. 1699 (inc.), Sanford, the incorporators being Mrs. T. M. Cross, Miss Elizabeth Avant and others.

Will Attend L. C. V. Reunion. The famous Confederate Drum Corps of the O. B. Raleigh fans are to enjoy two star ball games this week, with the A. & M. College team as the home combatants—Guilford College on Wednesday and Hampden-Sydney on Friday. There is much interest in both games.

Indictment. Citizens of Raleigh, who attended the recent session of Harnett county Superior Court at Lillington, tell of seeing Philip H. MacRae, who is burdened with half that falls much below his shoulders and with a bushy and disheveled hair, all because he took an oath during one of William Jennings Bryan's earliest campaigns for President that he would neither have his hair cut nor shaved until he was President. He told the Raleigh fans that his hair would have been much longer than it is now, but some of his mischievous friends beguiled him into imitating too much "John Barleycorn," and then cropped off his hair, while he could not see him.

MacRae is sixty-five years old, and is said to have expressed himself as having about lost all hope of ever being relieved of his burdensome hair and beard through Bryan's attaining the presidency. Recently he has exchanged letters with Bryan, and the latter sent him a life-sized bust engraved of himself, in exchange for a picture of MacRae, in his flowing hair and beard. Bryan holds out to him for getting his head and face back to normal condition. MacRae lives nine miles out from Lillington.

Findings of Court-Martial. Adjutant-General, J. E. Armfield, of the North Carolina National Guard, announces the finding of George T. Williamson, ensign of the First Division, Naval Militia, Wilmington, guilty of a number of charges of insubordination by court-martial. The sentence is to pay a fine of $5 and to be publicly reprimanded, with dismissal from the service, after ten days, if the fine be not paid, and a commutation of this sentence by Governor Kitchin, in view of extenuating circumstances, to the more payment of the fine and the fine.

The court-martial was held in Wilmington in January, with Commander C. E. Dradham, president, and J. C. B. Ehringhaus as judge advocate. The charges were dismissed on appeal, and later refusing to pay the fine imposed by Commander Cuthbert Martin for unnecessary absence. The Governor disapproved, and overruled several findings of the court-martial.

DECLINES CALL TO PETERSBURG

Rev. Mr. Stribling Decides to Remain With Waynesboro Church.

SINGULAR DISAPPEARANCE

Circulating Petitions for Executive Clemency for Samuel Hardy

Times-Dispatch Bureau, 109 North Sycamore Street, Petersburg, Va., April 4.

Rev. Charles R. Stribling, of Waynesboro, Va., has declined the second call to the pastoral charge of the Tabb Street Presbyterian Church, in this city, extended to him last week. The first call to the church was made several weeks ago, and was accepted, subject, of course, to the action of the Lexington Presbytery. That presbytery, when called to consider the matter, refused to dissolve Mr. Stribling's relations with the Waynesboro Church. Mr. Stribling's declination of the second call sustains the action of this presbytery.

The congregation is disappointed in the failure to secure Mr. Stribling as pastor, but will lose no time in looking out for another to permanently supply the pulpit, offering a good home and liberal support.

Interesting Addresses. Under the auspices of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, interesting services were held in several of the Methodist churches in this city yesterday, with large congregations attending, notwithstanding the almost continuous rains. The object of these services was to hear from first hands the condition and the wonderful progress of the Christian missionary work in Korea. The speakers were Prince T. H. Yun, of the royal family of that country, and Rev. C. G. Houshelt, for many years an active missionary in Korea. Mr. Yun spoke in Washington Street Church in the morning, and Mr. Houshelt in High Street Church. Both meetings and again at a big union meeting, and the details of the good work were heard with great interest.

Singular Disappearance. Frank Kraterfeld, a Bohemian, of Dinwiddie county, has been missing for some days, and his friends are anxious about him. It is said that over a week ago, with about $150 in his pockets, he left here for Richmond, with the intention of buying a horse. Since then he has not been heard from. His friends fear foul play.

Petition for Clemency. A petition for executive clemency in behalf of Samuel Hardy, convicted in the Circuit Court of Nansemond county of the murder of Tibertus C. Jones, and sentenced to the death penalty, was largely signed by citizens of Petersburg, and with like petitions circulated elsewhere, will be presented to Governor Mann. The Governor will be asked to commute the death sentence.

Will Probated. The will of the late Mrs. Mary L. Collier, widow of Robert W. Collier, has been admitted to probate in the Hastings Court, two sons of the testatrix, Fisher and Charles E. Collier, as executors. The will disposes of a considerable estate, which is bequeathed in equal portions among the eight children of the testatrix.

Midnight Cutting Affair. Charles Davis was stabbed in two places in the back at a late hour Saturday night by Beck Page, who is under arrest. Both men are negroes, and they got into a quarrel on Gill Street about some trivial matter. The result of Davis's wounds cannot be foretold, as it is not known whether Accepts Call to Raleigh. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Bristol, Va., April 4.—The Rev. A. D. Watkins, who has been pastor of Windsor Avenue Presbyterian Church here for five years, has resigned to accept a call to Raleigh, N. C., where he will be assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. He will leave Bristol early in May.

Not Yet Captured. The police have not yet captured the three highwaymen who so severely beat and robbed George Peebles in front of his home in Blandford Saturday night. Three men suspected of the assault and robbery were followed as far as Wakefield, but found they were not the persons wanted. It is said now that one of the suspected men is a Petersburg, and it is believed all three will soon be under arrest.

Thomas Ellis, a negro, attempted yesterday to snatch a watch from the pocket of Wm. Barham, and did succeed in getting the chain. He also got six months in jail to-day.
